U. S. FACING EPIDEMIC OF ASIATIC FLU

Surgeon Terms It Definite Probability In Winter Months

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—This country faces the "very definite probability" of a large outbreak of Asian influenza this fall or winter, Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney says.

But he reported yesterday that production is being rushed on a vaccaine to combat the disease. He urged full use of it when it becomes available starting next month.

The head of the Public Health Service said there have been about 11,000 cases of the new strain of influenza reported in the United States. He added that undoubtedly there has been "widespread seeding of virus throughout the country."

He commented that cold weather seems to trigger flu outbreaks, and said if one comes it likely will be in December, January and February.

Production Stepped Up

Six licensed manufacturers have set a production goal of 60 million doses of the new vaccine by February 1, Burney reported. He added that would be about 20 or 25 times as much flu vaccine as they normally produce and will require added personnel and two or three shifts, seven days a week.

Burney believes the disease will continue to be the mild type so far reported in the Far East, South America and this country.

He expressed confidence the death rate from complications following any cases will be "far below" the two tenths of one per cent reported in the Far East.

3 Deaths In U. S.

There had been three deaths reported in this country among the 11,000 cases, he said. All probably resulted from complications.

But he said the disease is an explosize type which could spread with such rapidity that a peak in San Francisco could be followed by a peak in Boston in a period possibly as short as four weeks.

No federall alocations system is planned for the new vaccine, Burney said, but every effort will be made to get as many people as possible to have one shot of the new vaccine before mid-February.

Commercial Sorghum Mill to Process 75 Acres of Cane in Blaine Section

KANE-TUCK Will Be Name Of New Product In Region

BLAINE, Ky., Aug. 5—The Blaine Sorghum Mills, Inc., has been organized here to manufacture and market country sorghum molasses.

The corporation, organized by nine farmers and businessmen, is now setting up a large sorghum mill and evaporator pans here to be ready to process approximately 75 acres of sorghum cane grown by farmers of the Blaine area.

The evaporator consists of nine pans hooked up in series. They will be heated by steam coils.

Farmers who grow cane will bring the cane stalks to the mill. The stalks will be run through the juicer to extract the juice. Then the juice will be processed into sorghum molasses in the series of nine evaporator pans. The process is like the old country sorghum mill except it is on a larger scale and the evaporator is heated by steam instead of wood.

Milt Kitchen, president of the firm, said the sorghum will be canned in one, two and five pound glass jars, oval shaped, and labeled, KANE-TUCK SORGHUM. The sorghum will be marketed through wholesale grocery firms.

Stockholders of the firm are Mr. Kitchen, president; Mrs. Kitchen, secretary-treasurer; C. F. Gambill, who is president of the Bank of Blaine; H. G. Burton, Russell R. Boggs, Harold Boggs, Elmo Lester and C. C. Wheeler, Jr., all of Blaine.

Mr. Kitchen, who is president of the Foothills Telephone Cooperative Corporation and a farmer, visited commerical sorghum mills in Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia to study best methods of operating a sorghum mill and marketing the product.

He said farmers of the Blaine section are growing about 75 acres of sorghum cane this year for processing in the mill.

Next year, it is hoped, several hundred acres of cane will be produced in the area.

Farmland in the area is estimated to produce from 100 to 225 gallon of sorghum per acre. Probable price to be paid farmers will be around $2 per gallon.

Thus an acre of cane should produce from $200 to $450 to the farmers who bring their cane to the mill for processing.

Outlets for the mill's KANE-TUCK brand sorghum already have been established with wholesale grocery firms, Kitchen said.

Steve Hamilton, West Liberty's star pitcher took over and forced a double play to get Lexington out of the tight spot. But Hamilton was touched for three runs in the ninth and Beard relieved him and got the final out

EARL PRICE FOR POLICE JUDGE

I have lived in West Liberty since 1929 when I came here as superintendent of Wayne United Gas Company. I have reared my family here and am personally acquainted with residents of West Liberty.

I want you to know that I will be a candidate for Police Judge at the coming November election. I will not be with any slate for any of the other offices for the city. It is my firm belief that the office of Police Judge should be separate and apart from the other offices. The duty of the Police Judge is to preside over the police court, and the other duties, responsibilities and affairs of the city should be handled by your Mayor and town board. If elected to serve you as Police Judge I will in no way attempt to interfere with any of the duties of your elected officers but will stand ready to cooperate with them at all times for the betterment of our town.

I feel that I am more than capable of handling the duties of Police Judge. My years of experience in managing the large personnel and other duties of the Wayne United Gas Company in this area will be of great benefit, and also my experience as chairman of the Town Board several years ago, during which time we all worked together and accomplished much for the town.

As you know I have not been regularly employed for some time and I need the job.

Your vote will be sincerely appreciated.

TO TIGHTEN LAW ON FARM CURBS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—The Agriculture Department today announced $500,000,000 soil-bank program for 1958 carrying a new regulation resigned to tighten curbs on surplus crop production.

Under the major-acreage-reserve phase of the program, which has been in effect for the 1956 and 1957 crops, the Department makes payments to farmers for planting less than their allotted acres of such surplus crops as cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco.

Financial provisions for the program were contained in an Agriculture Department appropriation bill belatedly passed by Congress yesterday.

Farmers who agree to retire land from these crops will be required to limit their total harvested acreage of all crops. Those who fail to abide by such agreements would lose payments and be subject to "civil penalties" equal to half of the payment they otherwise would have earned.

178 Million For Wheat

This requirement, set up for the first time, is designed to prevent shifting of land from the major surplus crops to other crops—a practice which, if continued, would create other surpluses and add to the total oversupply of farm products, the Department said.

Undersecretary of Agriculture Truce D. Morse, in announcing the program, said the new regulation should increase the effectiveness of the soil-bank plan.

The department announced that of the half-billion dollars provided for the acreage reserve, $178,000,000 will be allotted for payments for retiring wheat land Under this year's program commitments were made for wheat payments totaling $231,000,000.

To Set Up Base

The amounts to be allotted for other crops will be announced later.

To limit shifting of land from one set of crops to another, the Department will set up what it calls a "soil-bank base" for participating farms. Generally speaking, the base will be the total of the average of all crops, except hay, harvested on the farm in 1956 and 1957.

To be eligible for a payment, a farmer would have to limit his total harvested acres to the amount of his base minus the number of acres he agreed to retire from production.

For example, a farm had an average of 200 acres harvested in all crops except hay in 1956 and 1957 would have a soil-bank base of 200 acres. If the farmer agreed to take 20 acres of land out of wheat, he would have to limit his total harvested acreage to 180 acres.

3,000 To Be Maximum

County agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees will establish bases for individual farms.

The payment for retiring wheat land will average $20.88 an acre compared with $20.04 this year. Rates for other crops will be announced later.

The Department pointed out that under new Congressional action $3,000 will be the maximum amount any one producer will be allowed to earn under the program next year. There was no limit this year. This payment ceiling will be the only limit on the number of acres a farmer may agree to retire next year.

The Department also announced that farmers who retired land under the program this year will be paid a 10 per cent payment premium if the idle identical land next year. Such land, if put back into production, would under normal conditions produce a higher average acre yield than land that had not been kept idle.

FARM AND CROPS REPORT BY U. S.

(By Federal-State Market News Service)

Tobacco Crop Smaller By a Fourth

Total tobacco production is forecast at 1,661 million pounds, down nearly a fourth from last year and the smallest crop since 1943. Acreage, 1,128,300 acres, down 17 percent from last year. Flue cured forecast at 963 million pounds, is about 3 percent below 1956 production; acreage is down 24 percent from last year. Burley crop, estimated at 490 million pounds, is about 3percent below last year's production; acreage about 306,400 acres compared with 309,800 harvested last year. Maryland, type 32, production indicated at 34.1 million pounds would compare with 38.5 million produced last year; acreage, at 39,000 acres, is 5,000 acres below that harvested in 1956. Dark aircured, forecast at 24.4 million pounds, is dowr from last year by 28 percent. (This paragraph from the U. S. D. A. publication).

Crop Prospects Lowered By Spring Reverses

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, crops in important areas haven't done as well as expected, and as of July 1 this year's total crop output seemed likely to be the smallest since 1951. Crop Reporting Board points to the possibility of some improvement but indicates that the spring reverses have lowered chances for matching last year's record high per-acre yields. Prospects for corn, cotton, and other crops have been retarded or reduced by lateness and poor stands, and harvesting delays forced by wet weather have cut the yields of many early ripening fall grain fields. Large acreages which might have been planted to wheat, cotton, and other crops were not planted because of drought or Soil Bank inducements.

Dairy Outlook For 1957

Total milk output in 1957 should increase for the fifth straight year. The gain may be as much as 2 million pounds over the record 125.7 billion pounds of 1956 Farmer's sales of whole milk are continuing to rise faster than production, because a decreasing volume of milk is used on farms. Farmers also continue to shift from the sale of farm-skimmed cream to whole milk. This is giving the dairyman a higher average price per unit and helping increase his cash receipts. Prices to farmers have been stable for the year and should at least equal last year's average.

90% Farms Measured For Burley Bases Here

Approximately 90% of the burley tobacco allotments on Morgan county's 2,200 farms have been measured by community reporters, the Morgan County ASC office reported Thursday.

Keith Linville of Rowan county is the State ASC spot-checker in Morgan.

Morgan has 1919.7 acres of burley allotments, but 42 farms have been placed in the soil bank and another 25 or 30 acres of bases are laying fallow this season.

State Recalls Lafayette's Visit On 200th Birthday

(By Charles F. Hinds, Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society)

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 5—The opening day of the Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 6, has been declared Lafayette Day by Gov. A. B. Chandler. This date represents the exact 200th birthday of the Marquis de Lafayette and is the main event in Kentucky of the Lafayette Bicentennial Year.

Every school boy knows the story of Lafayette, how as a very young man he left his native home of France and joined the Americans in their struggle for independence.

What is less generally known is Lafayette's return to the United States in 1824 and his visit to Kentucky in 1825.

He received invitations to visit Kentucky from Governor Desha, the State legislature and others. But Lafayette's itinerary first led him to states neighboring New York and then through Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

From Mobile, the Lafayette party traveled by steamboat to New Orleans, Saint Louis and Nashville. After leaving Nashville on the way up the Ohio, the boat hit a snag and sank. Everyone was rescued, but there were some anxious moments on the rapidly-sinking steamer when Lafayette insisted that he be the last evacuated.

The next day, the Paragon, on its way to New Orleans from Louisville, was halled. The ship's captain was persuaded to turn back to Louisville. The Lafayette party disembarked some three miles from the old city, May 11, 1825.

The Kentucky tour led from Louisville through the following towns on the way to Cincinnati: Shelbyville, Frankfort, Versailles Lexington, Georgetown, and Covington. From Cincinnati, the party left by boat for Pittsburg. Maysville was a steamer stop. There on May 21, Lafayette had dinner ashore. The party left Kentucky the next day.

Matthew Jouett was commissioned by the legislature to paint Lafayette. That full-length painting is in the Old State House, Frankfort. Among the mementos of Lafayette's visit held by the Kentucky Historical Society are: The Governor Desha correspondence in the Adair-Desha-Metcalfe letter book, an itemized statement of the cost of the dinner on the State Capitol lawn for Lafayette and 700 guests, and an original copy of an invitation to the ball in Frankfort the same day.

Deputy Sheriffs Cecil Dalton and Harold Helton took Cornett to the state prison on Tuesday .

LICKING RIVER PROJECT DEAD FOR THIS TERM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6—A maintenance authorization for a Licking River navigation project in Kentucky is included in a bill that House Speaker Rayburn (D., Tex.) said Tuesday the chamber would not consider at this session.

The bill would have authorized about $1,500,000,000 worth of future construction on water projects. It had been passed by the Senate.

The House sometime ago passed another bill including funds for nine Kentucky flood control and water projects. Funds in this bill, now awaiting Senate action, are for use by the Army Corps of Engineers during the current fiscal year. The bill was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee last month.

The latter measure includes funds for work on Barkley Dam, Buckhorn Reservoir, New Richmond Lock and Dam, Greenup Locks and Dam, Lock and Dam 41 at Louisville, Rough River Reservoir and channels, a floodwall project at Catlettsburg, the Nolan Reservoir, and the No. 2 Barren Reservoir.

NEW PLAYGROUND GETS EQUIPMENT

Dr. Ralph L. Gullett, president of the West Liberty Kiwanis Club. reported Thursday that the new playground here has been awarded a grant of $1200 to$1500 from the Keenland Foundation with which to obtain playground equipment.

Funds from the Foundation are realized from profits of Keenland race track near Lexington. Since the track is a non-profit organization, all profits realized go into a fund for providing recreational equipment and other beneficial projects.

J. B. Faulconer, sports announcer for station WLAP Lexington, visited the site for the new playground last month and was enthusiastic about the work that had been done already. Faulconer is chairman of the committee that visits playground sites and makes a report from which the decisions are made as to which recreational projects are most deserving of assistance.

Faulconer said, when he visited West Liberty, that he could see no reason why the new playground here would not be chosen to receive the equipment. "Your town has made more progress in recreation facilities than any town I know of comparabl size."

Site of the playground is on North Main street, adjacent to the residence of Dr. R. L. Gullett. Owned by Dr. Stanley Gullett, the one-acre lot has been loaned to the town for a playground.

Equipment will include swings, slides, volley ball, badminton, croquet, tennis, etc. It is hoped the equipment will be ready for use by this fall, but if not, it will be installed next spring.

Though there is no equipment, youngsters are playing ball on the lot, and, states Dr. Gullett, any y ungster is welcome to use the playground.

Sponsored locally by the Kiwanis Club and Community Demately $559 has been donated to provide the playground.

Anyone who would like to make a donation toward this project may contact Dr. R. L. Gullett, Walter Franklin or Paul Shipley. A donation of $100 was made by last year's Community Development committee, and the remainder of the money has been given by residents chiefly in the vicinity of the playground. Since the project is for use by the entire community, other donations would be appreciated.

. . . IN THE LAUNDRY

How could Mother chase the dirt out of the family wash without plenty of steaming hot water? But she doesn't have to worry. Her electric water heater will supply all she needs for washing and for other cleaning purposes.

. . . IN THE KITCHEN

Hot water makes washing dishes and doing other kitchen tasks easier and faster. It gets dishes sparkling clean and cuts grease from pots, pans and other cooking utensils. And hot water is always there, on the job . . . with the turn of a faucet.

WHY WORRY?

SEE YOUR ELECTRIC APPLIANCE DEALER AND GET AN ELECTRIC WATER HEATER.

Today, people are living better electrically in homes, on farms, in stores, factories, schools, hospitals—everywhere!

LITTLE COUNTRY PREACHER

Jesus said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Mrs. Blankenship lived as though those words were spoken personally to her. Now her spirit has fled her pain ridden body and is now again giving out there somewhere.

Everything she had she shared with others. There was no pleasure for her to be enjoyed alone. The only thing she kept was her pain and suffering. She didn't share them.

Christ said we must become as little children. This Mrs. Blankenship did all her life. Humbleness, kindness and forgiveness and now she is free from trouble and strife.

She won't be remembered for any great deed. She was just a little country preacher giving the gospel to you and me. From the pulpit never a word did she utter, but she lived a sermon for us all to see.

Angels will now sing glad songs of rejoicing. For one of their members is now returned to the fold. Her mission is completed. She taught us to live the sweetest story ever told.

Dodge Schedules Ads In 3,700 Newspapers

DETROIT—Dodge has scheduled advertising space in 3,700 of the nation's daily and weekly newspapers to back its "most aggressive summer sales program," according to W. D. Moore, director of advertising and merchandising.

Moore said display ads running from three to seven columns in size would be used in the campaign, which runs for a 10-week period extending through September. The firm will spend more than $1,000,000 on the program, including radio and television to supplement the newspaper campaign.

Based on the theme "You're paying for a new car—make sure you get one!", the selling program is designed to take advantage of the growing market for cars in the Summer and Fall seasons; to maintain sales momentum built up through the first half of the 1957 model year; and to meet heavy " price" campaigns by competitors, Moore said.

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY...

FORD$ CO$T LE$$ PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, *similarly equipped.

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "private test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars . . . supervised by the United States Auto Club. And when the test was over, Ford led all other cars in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it, too!

THE $OONER YOU TRADE THE MORE YOU $AVE

BASIC RIGHTS INVOLVED IN RULING

(Lexington Herald)

Acting in line with a decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, Federal Judge Mac Swinford has held an FBI agent in contempt of court for refusing to open confidential files to defendants in a criminal case at Bowling Green. Judge Swinford's ruling, which he said, "I frankly hate to make," poses the complex effects of the Supreme Court's ruling June 2 that defendants have a right to examine secret reports of the FBI.

In some instances, law enforcement procedure may be stymied until legislation is enacted to abridge the court's ruling. What makes such abridgement difficult, however, is that the matter involves the very basic constitutional decree that no person shall be "deprived of life, libery or property without due process of law."| Denying one party access to information in possession of another party can be extremely contrary to the due-process principle, the court thinks. For instance, it would be very injurious indeed to a defendant if a law enforcement agency withheld information that would establish a defendant's innocence.

Judicial procedural changes can be legislated which would prevent criminals and others from having free access to all confidential information held by law enforcement and investigating agencies. These procedural changes will have to be made with care and with assurance that individual rights will not be trampled. But they will have to be made if there isn't to be a breakdown in the nation's law-enforcement machinery.

Some procedural changes also might be invoked for the investigative and law-enforcement agencies. The widespread practice of recording unverified gossip, rumors and charges against individuals and keeping such information on file indefinitely can be carried to the point where it is extremely dangerous to individual rights. When the time comes that this country's security is dependent upon making police documents inviolate, upon the testimony of professional witnesses and haters or upon the abridgement of basic constitutional rights, then there would not be much to gain by battling communism, for such is the brand of justice of the Communists and others opposed to democratic freedoms.

LOCUST YEAR

Cicadas sang their lonesome ballad, years
And years ago. Along the river Nile,
Their "Pharaoh" sent the children into tears;
Then soothing maids changed teardrops to a smile,
And they would sift the sand, or watch the boats
That passed close by the reeds—The sad refrain
The locusts fashioned into jeweled notes
At seventeen year intervals, we still
May hear their song, and it reminds us yet
Of wanton cruelty—and always will.
But in the time of plagues, lest we forget:
An east wind walled the sea at God's command,
And Moses led his people from the land.

WHAT MAKES A MAN

We find a life is lived in vain
If there has been no tears, no pain;
A life, that really is worthwhile
Is one that weathers every trial.
Where fortune's smile has gently been,
Is not the place to look for men;
But where hardships have been endured
You'll find stalwart, men of valor, matured.

EYES TELL YOUR HEALTH

An ophthalmologist who examines your eyes can give you quite a bit of "inside information." From looking at the only visible blood vessel—the retina vessell back of the eyeball—he can find clues that help him know how the rest of your body is functioning—your heart, liver, kidneys, blood pressure, thyroid, and even your teeth. Doctors say that disease-free eyes will never wear out from too much use.

Driver Education To Be Offered at MCHS

A course in Driver Education has been added to the curriculum at Morgan County High School for the first time in several years.

It has been tenatively set for juniors and seniors. It is not just a "learning to drive" course but also a training course for young drivers. Students that already have their license will be permitted to enroll as well as those that wish to learn to drive.

In addition to learning to drive properly, the student will also learn traffic laws, the proper handling of a car in traffic, courtesy, safety and many other valuable things in connection with driving.

The complexity of today's living makes it almost impossible for us to live without the automobile. There are more vehicles on the road now than ever before. There are more traffic accidents, injuries, and fatalities than ever before.

One of the best ways to combat this is through a high school driver training program featuring correct instruction toward the safe and proper way to drive.

TOBACCO PRODUCTION OFF

The Department of Agriculture says reduced production of tobacco is in prospect for this year. Compared with last year, burley production may be down 3 per cent; flue-cured, 32 per cent; fire-cured, 29 per cent; Maryland 11 per cent, and cigar types, 2 to 5 per cent. Acreage is down 17 per cent, mainly because of reduced allotments, and yields are expected to be generally lower.

OBITUARY

PATRICK

Lou Emma Patrick was born Aug. 19, 1894. She was married to Bruce Patrick Oct. 24, 1910. To this union were born five children: Russell, Chicago, Il.; Oval of Jeffersonville, Ky.; Eugene of Georgia; Mrs. Harles Cochran of Springfield, Ohio, and Mrs. Ardell Champion of Seco, Ky. Other than her immediate family she leaves to mourn her loss four brothers, Carl, Edd, Dewey and Gardner; one sister, Mrs. Cartie Lykins, and a large host of relatives and friends.

For many years she has been carrying an uplifted torch of Christian devotion, and all who knew her were aware of her Chrisitan endeavors. For the past six and a half years, life for Sister Patrick has been rough. The waves have been dashing against the ship, and it seemed that the storms would shatter the sails, and it would be a derelict ship destined for no harbor, but all who came to her room could witness her bed-ridden patience, having learned the lesson of the Apostle of old that whatsoever state I am in to be therewith content. Unable to turn in bed, in agony and pain, when the song birds of life had ceased to sing, the roses of optimism had closed their petals, she was an incurable optimist. Through it all she would say, "My Father doeth all things well." Having lingered on this side 62 years, 10 months and 5 days, the dynamo which furnished the power for operation ceased to run, the engine of her heart stopped at 3:00 p.m. June 24, 1957, and the Master on the hinder part of the ship closed the curtain, stretched out his big balmy hand and said, "Peace be still." She has only sat down to rest awhile.

As we look with a prospective look into the eternal future, we see a land of fadeless beauty where everlasting sun sheds its everlasting brightness. Among that innumerable host by an eye of faith we can see Sister Patrick who will shine as the stars forever.

Martha Frances Prater Blankenship was born July 30, 1880, and died July 30, 1957, age 77.

She was a member of the United Baptist church for 58 years and lived a faithful Christian life till death.

She leaves her husband, four children, eight grandchildren, ten great-grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends.

Her funeral was held in the Union Baptist church of Caney with Rev. B. T. Morris officiating. Burial was in the Lykins cemetery at Brushy Fork.

STACY

She was a native of Morgan County, Ky. and a member of the Holiness church.

Funeral was conducted at the Hodapp Funeral Home and burial was in Oak Hill cemetery, Glendale, Ohio.

She is survived by four daughters: Victoria Keith of Germantown, Ohio, Mrs. Anderson Lacy of Morehead, Mrs. Finley Vance of High Point, Ohio, Betty Price of Chicago, Ill.; three sons: Ernest Stacy of Okmulgee, Okla., Ira Stacy of Franklin, Ohio, and Earl preceded her in death; three brothers: Lafe and Press Haney of Dayton, Ohio, and Orlando Haney of Morgan county.

He was described as 5 feet tall, weighing 100 pounds, and having blue eyes and sandy, crewcut hair. He has two upper-front teeth missing.

The boy was wearing blue jeans and a white T-shirt when last seen.

Civic Music Association At Morehead Announces First Concerts for 57-58

The Northeastern Kentucky Civic Music Association concert series has announced the four concerts to be given at Morehead State College during the 1957-58 school year.

The Kovach and Rabovsky Ballet group will appear in October while the Men of Song, a male quartet, will be featured in November.

The Koldowsky Piano Duo and Chamber Orchestra will be heard in March while the Columbus Boy's Choir is scheduled to appear during April.

The Civic Music Association went over its goal during the membership campaign earlier this year, which made the signing of such a leading group of artists possible.

In regard to the selection of the artists, Dr. J. E. Duncan, head of the music department, said, "The selection of these artists was based entirely on the balloting by the Northeastern Kentucky Civic Music Association Membership."

Farmers Drawing Social Security to Report Earnings

A farmer came to our office the other day and said, "I never thought making more money off my farm would worry me, but right now it is. You see," he said, "I'm retired and getting old-age benefits. At the time I filed my claim because of the drouth, I didn't expect to net a plugged dime this year, let alone more than $1200. Then came the rains and crops are sprouting like Jack's beanstalks."

Well, it was clear that this farmer and many other retired self-employed farmers in this area are going to have a total farm earnings this year in excess of $1200. This will affect the number of social security payments he will be entitled to receive during the year. All of them should do what this farmer has done—report their expectation of increased farm income for 1957 to the Social Security Administration.

It is not necessary to come to our office to do this. When a claim for benefits was made, the applicant was given a special post-card for just this purpose. If you have misplaced the post-card, you should ask for another one, or report your prospect of increased earnings in a letter, if you prefer.

When an old-age beneficiary under age 72 makes such a report, his monthly benefit checks will be stopped, and he will be sent a Form OA-C740, "Request for Benefits Payable." This form tells him under what circumstances his payments may begin again. In this way, monthly benefit checks to him will be withheld during the time when he is making more than $1200 a year. If he does not report under these conditions, he may have to refund the amount of some of his benefit checks, or have benefit payments withheld later on when, because of drought or some other condition, his net farm income again falls below $1,200.

We told this farmer that if conditions change and he discovers later in the year that his farm earnings would not be as much as he expected, he should send in the report Form OA-C740, and his monthly benefit checks would be started up again. In this way, he could be sure of receiving benefit payments when his farm earnings had declined considerably or stopped entirely.

Further information concerning the above may be obtained from the Social Security Administration district office at 411 19th street, Ashland. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Adrian Hatfield, Field Representative of the Ashland office, will be in West Liberty each Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. (CST) to answer any questions free of charge.
